

Fabian Wyssen becomes new partner at RODER Engineering

RODER Engineering is pleased to announce that Fabian Wyssen will be joining the company as a partner. He will contribute his experience and expertise not only to project execution but also to the strategic development of the company.

"RODER Engineering has built a first-class reputation in the industry and I am honored to be part of this dynamic team. I look forward to continuing to develop innovative solutions for our customers with my colleagues. I am happy to take on this new challenge as a business partner to strengthen our company for the future," says Fabian Wyssen.

As a trained design engineer, he joined RODER Engineering in fall 2017 after completing his studies at the BFH in Burgdorf. He quickly took over the management of complex projects in special machine and rolling mill construction and has become a driving force.
